

Knowledge is Power!

Ask Me has the tools a travel professional needs to brand themselves as a destination wedding specialist, to include an educational curriculum, the Ask Me Love Lunch - a web-based seminar series hosted by MailPound.com™, focused on empowering the retail side of the industry with selling features on our partner hotels and marketing opportunities to help the pro-active travel agent and agency grow their business.

Ask Me recognizes that the strongest distribution channel any hotelier can have, is the support of a pro-active travel professional. Our goal is to ensure you have the tools and knowledge you need to grow your business within the $10 Billion destination wedding & honeymoon market.

So save the date, as our Ask Me Love Lunch will be held the second Thursday of every month @ 12noon (EST), with a different destination and a variety of hotels and marketing opportunities featured every month. Please note: To receive the official email invitation & registration, you must be registered with MailPound.com™.

If you are unable to attend our monthly Love Lunch, not to worry, as MailPound.com™ will make it available on their website to be viewed at a later date, at your convenience. In fact, we invite you to experience our previous Love Lunches by clicking on any of the links listed on the schedule that follows...
